Talk of the Turf.

Jockey Burns, the rider who attempted to "job" one of the recent races at Agricultural park and jumped his the horse, Hymn, out of the track rather than allow any one else to ride, is at Boise, Ida. From the tone of the Boise press, Burns will experience some difficulty in getting a chance to ride there.

The Boise papers speak very highly of the string of Salt Lake horses now at the Idaho capital. It is probable that the whole lot of horses now meing at Boise will return to Salt Lake to run at next week's meet at Agricultural park.

Some three years ago De Shazo married a Kaysville young lady of good family, and by some it was thought very strange that he was accepted at Fort Douglas because of his being a married man, as it was understood none but single men were wanted for service in the Philippines. Since the young man's enlistment his wife and child have resided with Mrs. De Shazo's parents.

About a week ago De Shazo reached Kaysville from San Francisco and to friends who saw him he related a plausible story to the effect that he had been discharged from the service at the Presidio because of a physical disability that was not detected when the first examination was undergone at the fort. He said the preatment he received was all right, for he was given his transportation home and in addition to that was paid for the time he was away. His story was accepted as true. Last Thursday morning De Shazo and his wife boarded the Short Line train and went north. Mrs. De Shazo purchased a ticket to Ogden and De Shazo and that time nothing has been heard from either of them, and it is presumed that they are visiting with relatives in Ogden or further north. It is thought De Shazo has received money recently from some source.

It's a cold night when the council can't stir up some kind of an argument over the affairs of the city engineer's office. Last night wasn't near cold enough to keep down such a debate. The trouble came when a letter was read from Auditor Swan by way of reply to the council's order directing him to report whether or not other departments besides the city engineer's had exceeded special appropriations.

Mr. Swan wrote that he had notified Mr. Kelsey before the last council meeting that unless he asked for a special appropriation to cover the excess over his allowance for the Paigy's canjon weirs, he would have to report the overdraft to the council. The auditor added that he had taken this action added that he had taken the city a few days ago, the reception was choses as the means of giving him an opportunity to make gome up worth talking about and having ago, the reception ago, the recept
